STATE LAW FOR

RUNNING BOARD RIDERS.

New Haven Trolleyman Believes State Covers Passengers Who Defy Conductors' Warnings.

A campaign is to be started against people who insist on riding on running boards against the orders of trolley conductors, and it is believed that there now exists an ordinance good enough to cover the case in point. The trolley men and the prosecutors of New Haven and Orange have been asked by the New Haven Trolleyman's union to help the cause and their attention is called to a state statute.

A statute in Chapter 75 of the public acts of 1905 reads:

An act concerning trespass upon street railway cars. Be it enacted by the senate and the house of representatives in general assembly convened, "Every person who shall willfully and unlawfully be upon, occupy or attach himself to the fender, bumper, coupler, drawbar, roof or any other part of the car of any electric or street railway company, not intended for passengers, shall be fined not more than $25 or imprisoned not more than 30 days, or both."

Having dug up this statute for the trolley men's union, their attorney has sent letters to the police chief and the prosecuting attorney reading as follows:

"As counsel for the Trolleyman's union, would ask you to kindly assist the conductors in endeavoring to enforce the rule recently made by the public utilities commission of this state prohibiting passengers from riding on the running boards of trolley cars. This rule which has been made by the public utilities commission is a beneficial one for both the conductors and the passengers, particularly the conductors.

"Under the recent ruling of the public utilities commission the running boards and steps are a part of the street railway car, not intended for passengers, and therefore any person riding on the steps after being ordered to step inside undoubtedly places himself within the purview of this statute."

Y. M. C. A. CAMP.

More Members Going to Fishers Island for Delights of Ten Life.

Everything is going swimmingly and probably in more numbers than one, at the Y. M. C. A. camp of boys from this city at the eastern end of Fishers Island. The campers have evidently not had time enough left over from their pursuit of recreation to get back to their homes, but postal cards say that all are well and having a splendid time.

This morning General Secretary F. R. Starkey goes down to the camp for a four day stay until Tuesday. Benjamin M. Bruce and Harvey Mott go down Sunday, the former to stay until the end of camp, but the latter only a day or two. On Tuesday there will be three more additions to the camping party. Harold K. Boland, Harold Young and John Young, Jr., with Secretary Starkey's arrival today there will be a total of 40 at the camp.

Next Tuesday has been decided on as visitors' day, and a number of the Y. M. C. A. directors and some of the parents of the boys are expecting to go down to be a glimpse of camp life, for a lunch or a tea to take the visitors from the Steamboat and land to the camp, which are three miles apart. Swimming and track sports and a ball game are some of the events on the programme to be given for the entertainment of the camp's guests.

Next Saturday Physical Director C. P. Pense is to do down for a four day stay.

FRIGHTENED HIS FAMILY.

Meyer Blumenthal Took Some Ear-drops to Relieve His Suffering.

About 9 o'clock Friday morning, Meyer Blumenthal of 29 High street caused his family considerable anxiety when they thought he had swallowed carbolic acid with suicide intent.

Mr. Blumenthal has suffered greatly from earache since childhood and had been using ear drops that had been prescribed for him by a New York doctor. He was in great pain Friday morning and in desperation, swallowed some of the contents of the bottle. Dr. Cassidy was hurriedly called and on his arrival he examined what was left in the bottle, which proved to be a harmless mixture of borax.

The doctor did not find it necessary to use a stomach pump and he does not think that Mr. Blumenthal drank much of the stuff. Mr. Blumenthal did not suffer any ill effects and was able to be about as usual later in the day.

One Inch Rainfall.

The rainfall in the heavy electrical storm of Thursday afternoon amounted to one inch, by the measurements made by the water office. On Friday afternoon about 3 o'clock there was a refreshing but brief shower. The storm Thursday did not reach New London, its southern limit being about Kitemaug.

Engineer Palmer Had Accident.

Civil Engineer Shepard R. Palmer is at his cottage at Point Reese and is laid up at present, but getting around on crutches. While at the Stony Brook reservoir site this week, he strained and tore the muscles loose on one of his legs near the ankle.

Members of the D. A. R. are protesting against the announcement of Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh that the head of a buffalo is to take the place of the Goddess of Liberty on the five-cent piece.

BRICK WORK AT THERMOS PLANT

Four Cars on Hand Ready For Walls to Go Up Soon—East Foundation Wall of Concrete is Completed—Force of 100 Men Employed—Concrete Mixer and Three Derricks Rushing the Construction.

At the Mason property, on lower Laurel Hill, work on the main building for the American Thermos Bottle company has been going on for the past five weeks, while on the laboratory building of the Mackay Copper Process company laborers went to excavating this week. These construction activities are by far the greatest that Laurel Hill has ever experienced, and indicate a new era for that section of the city and the east bank of the Thames. The new industry making vacuum bottles will tend to change that part of Norwich from the quiet section it has been into a thriving manufacturing district, although the new plants are so situated that they take away little of the residential charm of that part of the city.

With the advantage of weather that has enabled the work to proceed without interruption up to the shower of Thursday afternoon, rapid progress has been made upon the concrete foundations of the Thermos plant. This is located just south of the old Mason house, which is to be used, at least temporarily, as offices by the company. Coming to the end of the excavations the place was in rather bad condition when the contractor began work, but since then it has been made quite presentable.

Nearly one hundred men are now at work on the Thermos building under the direction of Foreman Omer Four-nier, while there are a score more of Contractor Torrance's men digging for the foundation of the Copper Process testing laboratory.

The concrete footing for the boiler house of the Thermos company's plant, which is to be 27 by 45 and is located on the river side, is in, and the stone work is now being put in. On the big factory building, which is to be 310 feet long by 100 feet wide, the concrete work is complete and ready for the brickwork to be begun on it.

The first four cars of brick arrived on the New Haven road Friday, and the bricklayers will consequently be able to begin their part of the work shortly. A number of carpenters are on the job framing up the 5 inches by 16 inches double beams, 8 feet long, that will form the floor supports resting on massive concrete piers sunk into the ground. The pier work is being pushed along rapidly, a concrete mixer and three derricks being busy there constantly. There has been quite a bit of excavating to do, as the building is to be three stories on the river side and two on the other, but this is being rapidly accomplished by the derricks and eight or ten teams.

On the whole, excellent progress has been made on the work, and it will not be long before the foundations will be complete and the superstructure will be going up.

At the Copper Process Building.

At the Mackay building, which is situated a few rods north of the Mason building and the Thermos plant, the progress made is not so apparent, as work was not started until this week. Still the buttresses have been put up and a good start has been made in the walls for the cellar for the reed and plaster building, 60 by 70 feet, which is to be built here to house the electrical equipment for separating pure copper from its ore. The schoolhouse the men are laying the water mains to connect with the new plants, and are having a rocky time, but where there is no intervening ledge or a large part of the pipe has been laid.

Two Men Felt Lightning.

The lightning played some of its pranks at the Thermos plant during Thursday afternoon's storm. A bolt struck a pole near the railroad tracks, and, glancing off, it struck one of the Italian laborers in the face. The man was burned somewhat by the flash, but he was not injured so as to keep him from his work. Another man who was holding an iron bolt in his hands claims he received a distinct shock in his arms, causing him to drop the bolt without delay and take to a more sheltered spot.

MUTILATED BODY FOUND

ALONG GROTON RACKS.

Little to Identify Young Man Killed on Shore Line.

The body of an unidentified young man, badly mutilated, was found along the Shore Line railroad tracks near East Groton Friday afternoon by the engineer of the Knickerbocker Express. Other than a label in his cap bearing the name "P. E. Sanford, Fall River, Mass." there are no marks of identification.

The body is being held at a New London undertaking establishment.

SHETUCKET STREET EXTENSION.

Connecticut Company Will Begin Laying Trolley Tracks on Monday.

Superintendent Samuel Anderson of the Connecticut company on Friday gave orders to Roadmaster Thomas Peterson to start Monday the extension of the trolley line down Shetucket street to a point near the New Haven road's freight house, for the accommodation of the Trolley Express company. The extension will be a gang of men will start on the work on Monday morning and though there may be quite a little ledge encountered in the short stretch of road from the Laurel Hill bridge down to the freight house, the extension can be completed in two weeks without trouble, it is believed. Though it may not be done now, eventually it is planned to connect the trolley with the steam road tracks so that, if wished, freight cars may be switched onto the trolley lines. Formerly it has been possible to do this only at the Taft's station junction.

Besides leaving Franklin Square free, the extension will prove more convenient to the business houses of the city, for patriotic to let a hired nurse care for the young officer, nursed him through three weeks of severe illness. As soon as he was able to march, Mr. Fuller enlisted as a foot soldier in the Eleventh Connecticut Volunteers, which was then starting for the front. He saw active service from the beginning of the war till its close, and was under fire in the greatest of the great battles.

Because of his pleasing personality, his modesty, his love of order, and his high character, he was repeatedly called from the ranks, where he was rising by the usual degree from private to captain, to serve as aide-de-camp and quartermaster. He made constant friends of his superior officers. He was especially attached to the lamented Col. Griffin Steadman of Hartford, and through the Sunday when that beloved officer lay dying, watched with him in the end.

Upon the death of his father, Mr. Fuller gave up his position in New York in the Farragut Insurance company, and taking over his father's business, settled in his native town, where he has since continued his father's good name for integrity, generosity and unflinching kindness. While naturally reticent, his conversion to pretence, littleness and injustice was too keen not to be outspoken. He was a born lover of out of doors, and as a fisherman few could equal him in patience, ardor or in skill. He leaves a very wide circle of friends. He is survived by his wife, his son Edward, his four daughters, Mrs. Francis P. Bacher, Miss Margaret Fuller, Mrs. Eastman, and Miss Harriet Louise Fuller, seven grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Gaybert Barnes of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mrs. Herbert A. Potter, widow of Herbert A. Potter, occurred at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. F. Baton, on Watrous avenue, at 1.15 o'clock Friday evening. She was 87 years of age and her death was caused by old age, her health having been poor for about five months. She was born in Potter, R. I., 87 years ago, and had lived with her daughter for some time previous to her death. She was a member of the Universalist church in Potter. The deceased is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Frank S. Robbins and Mrs. E. F. Baton of Norwich. One son, William H. Potter of Providence, also survives.

Apply for License Transfers.

Application was made Friday to the county commissioners for a transfer of the liquor license from Michael McCarthy to John Furelli at No. 681 Broadway, New London.

William F. Murphy No. 143 Bank street, New London, applied to the commissioners for a transfer of the license from himself to William F. Murphy & Co.

Corporation Documents.

Among documents relating to corporations filed Friday in the office of the secretary of state were the following:

The "Whitch Point" company of New London; certificate of incorporation; capital stock $2,000.

Certificate of merger of the Plainfield Mills corporation and the Lawton Mills corporation.

To organize on water in New London, the use of garden hose has been prohibited between 2 a. m. and 4 p. m.

DONATE LOT FOR WEST SIDE DIAMOND.

Playgrounds Association Receives Favor From The Misses Lucas.

At the meeting of the directors of the Norwich Playgrounds association this week, at which president John H. Stanton, president, Alderman Thomas H. Beckley, who is one of the board, reported the generous donation by the Misses Lucas of a lot of land which they will permit the association to put into shape for a baseball diamond for the boys of the West Side. The lot is between Elizabeth and West Main streets.

The association made an appropriation to put the lot into shape. It was felt some time ago that the West Side boys of larger growth than the small playground size were not enjoying equal opportunities with the boys who were nearer the Lake street playground, and Alderman Beckley interested himself for the benefit of the West Side boys with the result of the kind offer from the Misses Lucas.

As the playgrounds association is even now using about all the money which it had in the bank, the officers would welcome some more active memberships or some more active contributions to carry on their useful and increasing work.

Signs directing to the Greenville playground are to be placed on Prospect street.

FUNERAL.

Patrick Crowley.

The funeral of Patrick Crowley was held from the home of his sister, Mrs. Edwin A. Chapman, 335 Franklin street, Friday morning. In the large number present were relatives from Boston, Branford and New Haven. There were many floral tributes.

Rev. Thomas A. Grumly celebrated a high requiem mass at St. Patrick's church, assisted by Rev. William H. Kennedy, deacon, and Rev. Hugh Treanor sub-deacon. The choir sang two hymns at the close of the service. The bearers, brothers of the deceased, were James and Michael Crowley of Boston, Jeremiah Crowley of Branford, and Dennis Crowley of New Haven, a brother-in-law, Edwin A. Chapman, and a cousin, Charles W. Conrade of New York City.

Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery. Undertaker Harrigan had charge of the arrangements.

Unclaimed Letters.

The list of unclaimed letters at the Norwich, Conn., postoffice for the week ending July 13, 1912, follows: Harold Bennett, P. D. Briggs, Clara S. Butler, Mrs. A. Chapman, O. A. Child, Clayton W.
